University of Maryland
2 Job Postings For April 2015
Summer 2015 Research and Outreach Intern (Domestic Program)
Center for Economic & Policy Research (CEPR)

Position Type: Internship (Fall or Spring Part-Time)

Desired Major(s): Behavioral and Social Sciences/Economics, Computer, Mathematical, and Natural Sciences/Mathematics, Public Policy/Public Policy (GRAD)

Location: Washington, District of Columbia (United States)

Description: Job Description: The Center for Economic and Policy Research (CEPR) is currently looking for a full-time Summer 2015 Intern. The internship will start in June and end in late August.

The intern will assist with a variety of research, outreach, and communications activities related to the U.S. economy and domestic policy. This may include outreach to the press, advocacy organizations, and Congress, along with some research on upcoming papers and economic opinion pieces. Other tasks include communications duties such as generating website content and tracking CEPR’s appearances in the media.

The responsibilities of interns vary based on their interests and experience, as well as the particular issues that CEPR is working on at the time. Interns will have the opportunity to attend relevant events around Washington, D.C.

Stipend: $1,617 per month (to increase to $1,733 per month in July 2015), plus up to a $255.67 reimbursement for health insurance per month.

Closing Date of Position: April 21, 2015.

Organization Description: The Center for Economic and Policy Research (CEPR) was established in 1999 to promote democratic debate on the most important economic and social issues that affect people’s lives. In order for citizens to effectively exercise their voices in a democracy, it is necessary that they be informed about the problems and choices that they face. An informed public should then be able to choose policies that lead to an improving quality of life, both for people within the United States, and around the world.

Toward this end, CEPR conducts both professional research and public education so that the public is better prepared to choose among the various policy options. The professional research is oriented towards filling important gaps in the understanding of particular economic and social problems, or the impact of specific policies, both domestically and globally. The public education portion of CEPR’s mission is to present the findings of professional research, both by CEPR and others, in a manner that allows broad segments of the public to know exactly what is at stake in major policy debates. As part of its public education initiative, CEPR utilizes research findings and analysis to challenge the myths, assumptions, policies, and institutions that perpetuate economic and social inequality.

CEPR is an equal opportunity employer that considers applicants for all positions without regard to race, color, religion, creed, gender, national origin, age, disability, marital or veteran status, sexual orientation, or any legally protected status.

CEPR Internships

CEPR generally has two intern positions available per semester, one each for the domestic and international programs.

Fall internship: early September through December

International program application period: May to early June
Domestic program application period: late June to mid-July

Winter-Spring internship: early January through May

International program application period: September to early October
Domestic program application period: late October to mid-November

Summer internship: early June through August

International program application period: February to early March
Domestic program application period: late March to mid-April

Applications will NOT be accepted when the application periods are closed. Please sign up here to be notified when the application periods open.

Organization Description: CEPR was established in 1999 to promote democratic debate on the most important economic and social issues that affect people’s lives. In order for citizens to effectively exercise their voices in a democracy, it is necessary that they be informed about the problems and choices that they face. An informed public should then be able to choose policies that lead to an improving quality of life, both for people within the United States, and around the world.

Toward this end, CEPR conducts both professional research and public education so that the public is better prepared to choose among the various policy options. The professional research is oriented towards filling important gaps in the understanding of particular economic and social problems, or the impact of specific policies, both domestically and globally. The public education portion of CEPR’s mission is to present the findings of professional research, both by CEPR and others, in a manner that allows broad segments... of the public to know exactly what is at stake in major policy debates. As part of its public education initiative, CEPR utilizes research findings and analysis to challenge the myths, assumptions, policies and institutions that perpetuate economic and social inequality. CEPR's founding scholars include Dean Baker and Mark Weisbrot, co-directors of CEPR, and Robert Pollin, Professor of Economics, University of Massachusetts.

Want to know about our job openings before anyone else? You can sign up for announcements here.

CEPR is an equal opportunity employer that considers applicants for all positions without regard to race, color, religion, creed, gender, national origin, age, disability, marital or veteran status, sexual orientation, or any legally protected status.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Job Function:</th>
<th>Communication, Research, Social Services</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Desired Class Level(s):</td>
<td>Masters Candidate, Recent Grad (up to 1 year out)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Duration:</td>
<td>3 months</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Approximate Hours Per Week:</td>
<td>37.5 hours</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Salary Level:</td>
<td>$1,617 per month (to increase to $1,733 per month in July 2015), plus up to a $255.67 reimbursement for health insurance per month.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Qualifications:</td>
<td>We are looking for a recent college graduate or graduate student for this full-time position. Applicants should have a general understanding of economics and domestic policy, and an interest in economic justice. Excellent writing and communications skills are required. Previous research, outreach, or media experience is helpful. The intern will need to be able to work in a fast-paced environment and should be a self-starter and independent learner, and will receive limited supervision.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Criminal Justice 2015 Summer Internship
National Association of Counties

Position Type: Summer Internship

Desired Major(s): All Majors

Location: Washington, District of Columbia (United States)

Description: The National Association of Counties (NACo) has an opening for a criminal justice intern in its Research Department. The intern will provide data collection and research support for the criminal justice specialist in the Research Department.

Undergraduate students (especially upperclassmen), graduate students, and recent college graduates majoring in criminology/criminal justice, public policy, public administration, urban policy, geography, economics, statistics/mathematics, other social sciences or related fields of interest to NACo are encouraged to apply. Our most successful applicants are proficient in handling large databases and/or constructing maps and have good communication skills.

Experience with data cleaning/collection and at least one of the following software packages (Stata, SAS and ArcGIS) is strongly recommended for this position.

Preference will be given to students with an interest in local/state government careers.

Hours/Salary: 23 to 29 hours per week. Paid internship.

Application Procedures: To apply for an internship, please send a resume and a short writing sample (no more than 5 pages) to research@naco.org with the subject line: Justice Intern.

In your email indicate your availability (approximate number of hours per week available to work and approximate start and end dates) and highlight any previous data collection/data cleaning experience.

Incomplete submissions will not be considered.

Applications are processed on a rolling basis until all available positions are filled, so early application is encouraged.

Job Function: Research

Desired Class Level(s): Senior, Masters Candidate

Approximate Hours Per Week: 23-29

Qualifications: Experience with data cleaning/collection and at least one of the following software packages (Stata, SAS and ArcGIS) is strongly recommended for this position.